"Críticas 'In a feisty attack on the view of feminism and environmentalism as single issue, disconnected movements, Ariel Salleh convincingly argues that ecofeminist politics will be the strongest force in the world against environmental depredation, economic exploitation and cultural globalisation.' Joan Martinez-Alier, author of Ecological Economics from the Ground Up 'I place Ariel Salleh's scholarship in the front rank with work of other socialist ecofeminists such as Vandana Shiva or ecofeminists generally like Rosemary Ruether and Susan Griffin.' Max Oelschlaeger, author of Caring for Creation 'A theoretically challenging book which contains a wealth of empirical evidence.' Futures 'Passionately written, well researched and sweeping in its theoretical scope. In particular, Salleh's integration of Marxist theory pushes some of the intellectual boundaries of ecofeminism ...there is something refreshing about Salleh's inclusionary politics.' Women's Review of Books 'A significant work... an important contribution to ecofeminist discourse.' Economic and Political Weekly 'A nascent political economy... a unique and powerful explanatory position.' John Barry, Environmental Politics Reseña del editor Ecofeminism as Politics is now a classic, being the first work to offer a joined-up framework for green, socialist, feminist and postcolonial thinking, showing how these have been held back by conceptual confusions over gender. Originally published in 1997, it argues that ecofeminism reaches beyond contemporary social movement ideologies and practices, by prefiguring a political synthesis of four-revolutions-in-one: ecology is feminism is socialism is postcolonial struggle. Ariel Salleh addresses discourses on class, science, the body, culture and nature, and her innovative reading of Marx converges the philosophy of internal relations with the organic materiality of everyday life. Biografía del autor Ariel Salleh is a research associate in political economy at the University of Sydney, Australia."
