

Na Daoine Sìthe Is ã Irsgeulan Eile Scots Gaelic Edition By Catriona Chamshroin Raognhailt Ainslie Ghrannnd Nicgilledhuibh Michael Bauer

collectionofgael00maci djvu Scotland Irish Language

This collection of stories contains three classic fairy tales from Argyll - Spiorad na h-Aoise (The Spirit of the Age), Iolaire Loch Trèig (The Eagle of Loch Treig) and Bean-taighe Mhath 's Obair-oidhche (The Good Housewife and a Night's Work). Find out if the youngest brother has any more luck than the others, if the Eagle of Loch Trèig is indeed the world's oldest being; and if the poor housewife manages to rid herself of the pesky fairies she accidentally called upon. A re-print of an old book of fairy tales that has been fully re-typeset and the colour illustrations digitally cleaned. The spelling has been updated slightly and footnotes (in Gaelic) explaining obscure words have been added but other than that, the book remains as it was. The only completely new part is the sound recording which you can download from the publisher's website - told by a native speaker of Argyll Gaelic. Let yourself be entranced by a dialect that is rarely heard today..

collectionofgael00maci djvu Scotland Irish Language

April 1st, 2020 - The Ulster version is Aithnighear fear na cuarige air fithche a measg chich A South Uist saying is Is lualh fear na droch mhna air a mhachair Uibliistich iSwift goes the bad wife s husband on the Uist plain Aithnichear leanabh air a bheusaibh A child is known by his manners Even a child is known by his doings Prov xx 11

Copyright Code : saltpeter